The New York City Employees' Retirement System ("Lead Plaintiff") submits this Reply in further support of: (1) Lead Plaintiff's Motion for Final Approval of Class Action Settlement (Dkt. No. 142, "Settlement Motion"), and (2) Lead Plaintiff's Motion for Attorneys' Fees and Reimbursement of Litigation Expenses (Dkt. No. 143, "Fee Motion"), and in response to the objections filed by (1) objector Patrick Pezzati ("Pezzati") filed on January 21, 2011 (Dkt. No. 148); (2) objector Fred Fekrat ("Fekrat") filed on January 24, 2011 (Dkt. No. 149); (3) objector George W. Sibley ("Sibley") filed on January 24, 2011 (Dkt. No. 150); as well as the letter objections of Dr. Marshall J. and Ann S. Orloff, Winston Gouzoules, and Charles S. Kyriazos, which have not been filed with the court.

ARGUMENT

I. THE SETTLEMENT AND PLAN OF ALLOCATION ARE FAIR AND REASONABLE AND SHOULD BE APPROVED

The substantial monetary recovery obtained for the Class was achieved only after over four years of hard-fought litigation, through the skill, work, tenacity, and effective advocacy of Plaintiffs' Counsel to address the legal and factual issues that posed substantial risks to the claims of the Class. For the reasons explained in Lead Plaintiff's Settlement Motion, the Declaration of Carolyn Wolpert in Support of Lead Plaintiff's Motion for Final Approval of the Proposed Settlement ("Lead Plaintiff Decl."), attached as Exhibit A to the Declaration of Michael J. Barry in Support of Motion for Final Approval of Settlement and Plan of Allocation and Motion for An Award of Attorneys' Fees and Reimbursement of Expenses. (Dkt. No. 144, "Barry Declaration"), Lead Plaintiff and Lead Counsel submit that the $16.5 million cash Settlement provides an excellent recovery and is in the best interests of the Class. The proposed Plan of Allocation is also fair and reasonable to Class Members. Accordingly, because the Settlement and the Plan of Allocation are fair and reasonable, Lead Plaintiff respectfully requests that they be approved.

A. The Overwhelming Positive Response To The Settlement Counsels In Favor Of Approval

The Class's reaction to the Settlement supports approval. "It is established that the absence of a large number of objections to a proposed class action settlement raises a strong presumption that the terms of [the settlement] are favorable to the class members." National Rural Telecomms. Coop. v. DIRECTV, Inc., 221 F.R.D. 523, 529 (C.D. Cal. 2004). As set forth in the Supplemental Declaration of the Claims Administrator (the "Suppl. Oseas Decl."), attached hereto as Exhibit A, Lead Plaintiff made every reasonable effort to provide Notice by mail and by publication to all ascertainable Class members, and established a toll-free hotline, email address and website to handle inquiries. Id. ¶¶ 13-15, 18. The Notice provides, among other things, details about the nature of the lawsuit, the settlement, and the rights of Class members to object or request exclusion. See Id. ¶¶ 5, 19-20. Through these efforts, the Administrator reached hundreds of thousands of Class Members, fully informing them of the Settlement terms and the Class Members' rights, including their right to object to the Settlement Agreement or any part of it (including the Plan of Allocation and Plaintiffs' Counsel's application for attorneys' fees and reimbursement of expenses). Only six potential Class Members have objected (or purported to object). These five objections represent a mere .0004127% of the Notice Packets mailed to Class Members.

This is an exceptionally strong indication of the fairness of the Settlement. See, e.g., Boyd v. Bechtel Corp., 485 F. Supp. 610, 624 (N.D. Cal. 1979) (objections from only 16% of class held "persuasive" of settlement's adequacy); In re Patriot Am. Hospitality Inc. Sec. Litig., No. MDL-C-00-1300, 2005 WL 3801595, at *3 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 30, 2005) (favoring settlement where "[t]he claims administrator has received hundreds of proof of claim forms. . . . [and] no objector has come forward. . . . [and] two class members have requested exclusion"); In re Portal Software Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 03-cv-5138, 2007 WL 4171201, at *4 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 26, 2007) (approving settlement with no objections and only one exclusion) (citing Churchill Village v. General Elec., 361 F.3d 566, 577 (9th Cir. 2004) (approving settlement where there were 45 objections and 500 exclusions from a class of 90,000 members)); In re Mego Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., 213 F.3d 454, 459 (9th Cir. 2000) (approving settlement where one objection was received from a class of 5,400 members); Marshall v. Holiday Magic, Inc., 550 F.2d 1173, 1178 (9th Cir. 1977), overruled on other grounds (approving settlement where one percent of the class objected).

B. The Distribution Of Any Settlement Funds Remaining After Repeated Distribution To Shareholders To Designated Educational Institutions Is Appropriate

Objector Pezzati raises a “contingent” objection to final approval of the settlement. His objection is “contingent” because it is raised if and only if there are unclaimed funds after all efforts to distribute the settlement funds are unsuccessful (i.e., there are cy pres distributions to corporate governance programs). See Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148 at 2 (“if...the $16.5 million settlement fund will be exhausted, [Pezzati] has no objection to the settlement or the fee request.”). Pezzati’s objection to the potential for cy pres distributions of unclaimed settlement funds, if any, is without merit.¹

The Settlement provides that distribution will be made to corporate governance programs at designated academic institutions only if any funds remain o the now increased $16.5 million settlement fund after distribution and redistribution to the Class, specifically:

Distributions will be made to Authorized Claimants after all claims have been processed and after the Court has finally approved the Settlement. If any funds remain in the Net Settlement Fund by reason of un-cashed checks or otherwise, then, after the Claims Administrator has made reasonable and diligent efforts to have Class Members who are entitled to participate in the distribution of the Net Settlement Fund cash their distributions, any balance remaining in the Net Settlement Fund one (1) year after the initial distribution of any unpaid costs or fees incurred in administering the Net Settlement Fund for such re-distribution, up to a maximum distribution of $1.70 per share (the difference between the closing price of Apple common stock on June 29, 2006 ($58.97) and June 30, 2006 ($57.27)). If after six months after such re-distribution any funds shall remain in the Net Settlement Fund, then such balance shall be contributed in nine equal payments to the following nine corporate governance programs ...

Notice of Proposed Settlement, Settlement Fairness Hearing, and Motion for Attorneys’ Fees and Expenses (the “Notice”), ¶ 49, attached as Exhibit A-1 to the Amended Stipulation and Agreement of Settlement.

¹ The Court rejected similar objections raised by Pezzati to preliminary approval of the settlement. See Dkt. Nos. 137-39.

1 Pezzati asserts that there is not “a single case” that addresses his argument that cy pres
 2 payments of residual funds to non-class members are impermissible. See Pezzati Objection, Dkt.
 3 No. 148, at 2. Pezzati is wrong. Quite the contrary, the Ninth Circuit has specifically approved 4 use of cy pres distributions of unclaimed settlement funds. Six Mexican Workers v. Ariz. Citrus 5 Growers, 904 F.2d 1301, 1307 (9th Cir. 1990). Other Circuits and district courts have as well.
 6 See, e.g., In re Pharm. Indus. Average Wholesale Price Litig., 588 F.3d 24, 34 (1st Cir. 2009) 7 (“courts have allowed parties to establish cy pres funds when money remained from the 8 defendant’s payout after money for damages had been distributed to class members”); Powell v.
 9 Georgia-Pacific Corp., No. 96-3531, 119 F.3d 703, 705-706 (8th Cir. 1997) (refusing, after 10 money in a settlement fund remained, to distribute the remainder to class members because 11 “neither party ha[d] a legal right” to the unclaimed amount); Hunt v. Imperial Merch. Servs., No.
 12 C-05-04993 DMR, 2010 U.S. Dist. LEXIS 111243 (N.D. Cal. Oct. 7, 2010); see also 3 Newberg
 13 on Class Actions § 10:17 (4th ed.) (“The [commonly used] cy pres approach...puts the unclaimed
 14 fund[s] to [their] next best compensation use, e.g., for the aggregate, indirect, prospective benefit 15 of the class....”); see also id. (citing further cases recognizing the propriety of distributing funds 16 that were unclaimed by class members to charitable and other public interest organizations for the 17 indirect benefit of the class).

18 Pezzati further asserts that there is no authority for cy pres distributions in shareholder 19 class actions (as distinguished from consumer class actions) where class members include current 20 shareholders. See Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148, at 6-7 (asserting that cy pres distributions in 21 shareholder class actions “is a question of first impression”). This assertion is also meritless. See 22 In re Rambus, Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 06-4346-JF, slip op. (N.D. Cal. April 30, 2010) (approving 23 backdating settlement that included contingent cy pres distribution provision to non-profit 24 organization for funds remaining after two distributions to class members).

25 Pezzati also claims that “[d]istribution of any leftover funds is not appropriate under the 26 [American Law Institute, Principles of the Law of Aggregate Litigation (the “ALI Principles”).]” 27 Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148, at 4-5. Once again, Pezzati is wrong. The Settlement fully 28 complies with the ALI Principles, which are not binding on this Court in any event. See In re

1 Pharm. Indus. Average Wholesale Price Litig., 588 F.3d at 35 (holding the issue “is not whether 2 the settlement complies with the ALI draft, but whether the district court abused its discretion in 3 approving the cy pres part of the settlement.”). Sections 3.07(b) and (c) of the ALI Principles 4 recognize that if “specific reasons exist that would make...further distributions impossible or 5 unfair,” a cy pres distribution to “a recipient whose interests reasonably approximate those being 6 pursued by the class” may be appropriate. The Settlement here is perfectly consistent with the 7 ALI guidelines. Cy pres distributions will only occur, if at all, after the Claims Administrator has 8 made two separate distributions over an 18-month period of time. If and only if “leftover” funds 9 remain after these two distributions, they will be distributed to organizations that focus on 10 corporate governance issues. These organizations clearly have interests that “reasonably 11 approximate” the interests of Class Members, especially given the corporate governance failures 12 alleged in the complaint.

13 Finally, Pezzati complains that while the complaint in this action alleged that Apple’s 14 share price dropped approximately $10 per share, the Settlement caps damages per share at $1.70, 15 and that the limitations placed on recoverable damages are not fully explained in the Notice. See 16 Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148, at 4-6. Once again, Mr. Pezatti is wrong.

17 The Notice clearly explains that the $1.70 cap on damages is the product of the difference 18 between the closing price of Apple common stock on June 29, 2006 ($58.97), when the Company 19 disclosed certain “irregularities” regarding in the accounting for stock options, and the next day, 20 June 30, 2006 ($57.27). Notice ¶ 49. The significant decline in the stock price alleged in the 21 Amended Consolidated Complaint, and referenced by Mr. Pezatti (Pezatti Objection, Dkt. No.
 22 148, at 6), took place over a two week period following the disclosure at issue. See Dkt No. 105, 23 ¶¶ 458-63. Although there are significant arguments that a court may consider the impact on a 24 company’s stock price in an extended period following an alleged “corrective disclosure”, there is 25 myriad caselaw standing for the proposition that a single day “even window” is appropriate for 26 purposes of establishing loss causation in a claim under Section 10(b) of the Exchange Act. See, 27 e.g., In re Countrywide Fin. Corp. Sec. Litig., --- F.R.D. ---, 2009 WL 7322254, at *28 (C.D.
 28 Cal. Dec. 9, 2009) (“Same-day correlation is consistent with market efficiency.”); see also In re

1 TheMart.com, Inc. Sec. Litig., 114 F. Supp. 2d 955, 963-64 (C.D. Cal. 2000) (same). For 2 example, in In re American International Group, Inc. Sec. Litig., 265 F.R.D. 157, 182 S.D.N.Y.
 3 (2010), the court succinctly explained how the absence of a same-day stock price drop can have 4 the effect of vastly limiting damages in a class action under the federal securities laws:

5 [I]f the market on which AIG stock traded was indeed efficient – an assumption 6 and requirement of the fraud-on-the-market presumption – then the absence of a 7 price decline on the day a fraud was disclosed will strongly indicate that there was 8 also no price increase on the day the fraud occurred [i.e., no artificial inflation 9 attributable to the false statements]. Thus, to the extent a Defendant can show that 10 there was no price decrease in AIG stock on the date a misrepresentation was 11 disclosed [i.e., the corrective disclosure date(s)], the Court views this showing as 12 strong evidence that there was no price change on the date of the 13 misrepresentation, thus rebutting the fraud-on-the-market presumption.

14 Id. The fact that there is significant authority limiting the ability of shareholders to prove “loss 15 causation” through an impact on the price of a company’s stock following several days (let alone 16 two weeks) after a corrective disclosure was a substantial factor in Lead Plaintiffs’ agreement to 17 settle the case. If Mr. Pezzati or his counsel has complaints about the limitations imposed on a 18 shareholder’s ability to demonstrate economic loss by the PSLRA² and by judicial application of 19 the Supreme Court’s decision in Dura Pharm. Inc. v. Broudo, 544 U.S. 336, 346 (2005), those 20 arguments should be addressed to Congress.

21 C. The Objections That Options Transactions Should Be Included And That The 22 June 26, 2009 Cutoff Date Is Unfair Are Without Merit And Should Be 23 Rejected

24 Mr. Fekrat objects to the Settlement the ground that the plan of allocation excludes 25 options transactions and excludes those who purchased and sold shares during the Class Period.
 26 As an initial matter, Fekrat’s objection is not proper, as he fails to provide proof that he purchased

27 ² See 15 U.S.C. § 78u-4(b)(4) (“In any private action arising under this chapter, the plaintiff shall 28 have the burden of proving that the act or omission of the defendant alleged to violate this chapter caused the loss for which the plaintiff seeks to recover damages.”).

1 shares of Apple stock during the Class Period.³ Nonetheless, his objection is without merit in any 2 event.

 4 Option holders were not a part of the Class, and therefore cannot properly be included in 5 the Settlement.⁴ With regard to his complaint that the exclusion of purchasers of Apple shares
 6 who sold their shares on or before June 29, 2006 “defies logic,” (Fekrat Obj. at ¶ 3), Mr. Fekrat 7 may be right, but such exclusion is also mandated by statute and by the Supreme Court. See 8 Dura Pharm. Inc., 544 U.S. at 342-46 (prohibiting the recovery of damages for shares sold before 9 the “relevant truth” is disclosed about the fraud); see also 15 U.S.C. §78u-4(e) (“the award of 10 damages to the plaintiff shall not exceed the difference between the purchase or sale price paid or 11 received, as appropriate, by the plaintiff for the subject security and the mean trading price of that 12 security during the 90-day period beginning on the date on which the information correcting the 13 misstatement or omission that is the basis for the action is disseminated to the market.”).

14 II. THE OBJECTIONS TO THE MOTION FOR ATTORNEYS’ FEES AND 15 EXPENSES SHOULD BE OVERRULED

16 A. Notice Of The Settlement And Lead Plaintiffs’ Fee Application Were Timely

17 Dr. Sibley argues that the Fee Motion violates procedural due process because it was not 18 filed before the deadline for filing objections. He is factually incorrect. Lead Plaintiff filed the 19 Settlement Motion, the Fee Motion, and all supporting documents — including six detailed 20 declarations — before the January 21, 2011 objection deadline. Unlike the situation addressed by 21 the Court in In re Mercury Interactive Corp. Sec. Litig., 618 F.3d 988 (9th Cir. 2010), the Fee

22
 23 ³ The Notice requires that individuals wishing to object must “identify the date(s), price(s), and 24 number of shares of all purchases and sales of Apple common stock you made during the Class Period.” Notice ¶ 36. The Orloff Objectors failed to include this information, and Fekrat has not provided this information with respect to his option transactions.

25 ⁴ See Dkt. No. 105 at 1 (“Plaintiffs bring this securities fraud class action ... on behalf of itself 26 and all other persons or entities who acquired securities issued by Apple, between and including 27 August 24, 2001 and June 29, 2006 ...”). Options of Apple that may be purchased on various 28 exchanges such as the Chicago Board Options Exchange are not “issued by Apple,” but are individual contracts between private investors. See also Dkt. No. 105 at ¶ 484 (“Had Lead Plaintiff and the other members of the Section 10(b) Class known the truth, they would not have purchased Apple’s stock or would not have purchased stock at the inflated prices that were paid.”).

1 Motion here was electronically filed with the Court on January 7, 2011, and posted on the 2 www.AppleSecuritiesSettlement.com website on January 10, 2011. Contrary to Mr. Sibley's 3 argument, therefore, the Fee Motion was thus available not only before the objection deadline, but 4 six weeks before the Final Approval Hearing.

5 Moreover, Notice was mailed out on December 8, 2010. Objections were due 44 days
 6 later on January 21, 2011. Courts have repeatedly found such time periods to constitute sufficient 11 when "[t]here were three to four weeks between the mailing of class notice and the last date to 12 object") (citing Grunin v. Int'l House of Pancakes, 513 F.2d 114, 120-21 (8th Cir. 1975) 13 (nineteen days notice was enough time to object, particularly when case had been ongoing for two 14 years)); Miller v. Republic Nat'l Life Ins. Co., 559 F.2d 426, 429-30 (5th Cir. 1977) (in securities 15 fraud class action, a period of "almost four weeks between the mailing of the notices and the 16 settlement hearing" was adequate time, particularly when only one class member objected to the 17 timing and where such class member was a part of the case since its inception). See also DeJulius 18 v. New England Health Care Emps. Pension Fund, 429 F.3d 935, 940 (10th Cir. 2005) (initial 21 Sept. 6, 2006) (publication of notice 34 days before the deadline for objections held to be 22 adequate).

23 Notice of a proposed class action settlement may satisfy the requirements of due process 24 without guaranteeing personal notification to every individual class member. See Brannon v.
 25 Household Int'l Inc., 236 F. Appx. 285, 287-88, & n.1 (9th Cir. 2007) (determining that class 26 notice was adequate and rejecting the proposition that actual notice had to be given to each and 27 every class member). See also Buxbaum v. Deutsche Bank AG, 216 F.R.D 72, 80 (S.D.N.Y. 2003) 28 ("It is 'widely recognized that for the due process standard to be met it is not necessary that every

1 class member receive actual notice, so long as class counsel acted reasonably in selecting means 2 likely to inform persons affected”). Indeed, as the Ninth Circuit has held:

3 [T]he notice in this case was constitutionally sufficient. The Administrator 4 published notices in, among others [national] newspapers, maintained an internet 5 website detailing the settlement and opt out procedures, and mailed a follow-up 6 notice. In addition, the district court noted that quality control procedures were put 7 in place by the Administrator. Given the large size of the class and its geographical distribution, the aforementioned procedures constitute “the best practicable notice” reasonably aimed at reaching the class.

8 Brannon, 271 F. Appx. at 287-88 (citing Silber v. Mabon, 18 F.3d 1449, 1453-54 (9th Cir.
 9 1994)).

10 As set forth in the Supplemental Oseas Declaration, of the total 1,211,562 Notice Packets 11 that were mailed to potential Class members, 31,866 were mailed by the December 8, 2010, 12 mailing deadline set by the Court in the Scheduling Order. For reasons discussed in the 13 Supplemental Oseas Declaration, as of January 14, 2011, over 1.1 million Notice Packets were 14 mailed to potential settlement class members. Supp. Oseas Decl. ¶ 9. In addition, a copy of the 15 Notice was published in The Investor’s Business Daily and transmitted over Business Wire on 16 December 8, 2010. Id. ¶ 18. The Class as a whole indisputably had adequate notice. These 17 objections are also without merit.

18 Notably, certain of the objectors received notice later than others because they held their 19 shares in “street name” – i.e., in the name of a nominee/brokerage house. Pursuant to the 20 Scheduling Order, the Claims Administrator used “reasonable efforts to give notice to nominee 21 purchasers such as brokerage firms and other persons and entities who purchased Apple common 22 stock during the Class Period as record owners but not as beneficial owners.” Scheduling Order 23 ¶ 9. See Supp. Oseas Decl. ¶ 7. In addition, the Scheduling Order provides that “[s]uch nominee 24 purchasers are directed within fourteen (14) days of their receipt of the Notice, to either forward
 25 copies of the Notice and Proof of Claim to their beneficial owners, or to provide the Claims 26 Administrator with lists of the names and addresses of the beneficial owners.” Scheduling Order 27 ¶ 9.

1 That certain brokers were slower than others in forwarding copies of the notice to 2 beneficial owners cannot be blamed on Lead Counsel or any party to this litigation. That such 3 delays may occur is a byproduct of an individual shareholder's decision to hold securities in 4 "street name". See Enstar Corp. v. Senouf, 535 A.2d 1351, 1354-55 (Del. 1987) (noting that the 5 "attendant risks" of owning stock registered in street name, including the risk that the shareholder 6 may not receive notice of corporate proceedings, are borne by the stockholder). Moreover, 7 "notice provided to the class members' nominees – i.e., the brokerage house – has been deemed 8 sufficient even if brokerage houses failed to timely forward the notice to the beneficial owners." 9 Fidel v. Farley, 534 F.3d 508, 514 (6th Cir. 2008) (citing DeJulius, 429 F.3d at 936 (finding 10 notice sufficient where two beneficial owners received notice of class settlement two weeks after 11 deadline for filing objections and on the same day as the final fairness hearing)); Torrissi, 8 F.3d at 12 1374-75 (concluding notice was sufficient where notice was mailed to some beneficial owners 13 after deadline for filing objections had passed); Silber, 18 F.3d at 1453-54 (finding notice 14 adequate where, due to late response of brokerage house, 1000 beneficial owners received notice 15 after the opt-out deadline)).⁵

17 1. The "Contingent" And Other Objections To The Requested Attorneys' Fees And Expenses Are Without Merit

18

19 Pezzati raises yet another "contingent" objection to the request for attorneys' fees and 20 expenses based on the potential for cy pres distributions and asserts that before approving the fee 21 request the Court must wait until the Claims Administration process is complete, determine the 22 amount, if any, of cy pres distributions and then reduce the requested fee based on the amount of 23 such distributions. Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148 at 7. This argument is without merit for three 24 reasons.

25 First, courts routinely grant approval to attorneys' fee requests prior to knowing whether 26 there will be funds leftover for cy pres distributions. See, e.g., In re Rambus, No. 06-4346-JF,

27 ⁵ Nevertheless, to address any possible concern Court might have on Notice, to the extent 28 substantive objections are received prior to the Fairness Hearing, counsel will address them at that time.

1 slip op. (N.D. Cal. May 14, 2008) (approving award of attorneys' fees and expenses prior to 2 knowing whether there might be "leftover" cy pres funds to be distributed). Pezzati raises
 3 nothing that requires a different result here. Second, the objection is based on Pezzati's erroneous 4 view of the Settlement. Pezzati apparently believes the $16.5 million settlement fund will be 5 reduced by the fees awarded to Plaintiffs' Counsel, and that the settlement fund will thus amount 6 to only $14,138,234. See Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148, at 8-10. This is wrong; Apple will pay 7 Plaintiffs' Counsel's fees and expenses separate and apart from the $16.5 million settlement fund.
 8 There will be no reduction in the Settlement Fund. See Notice ¶ 29. Third, Pezzati does not raise 9 any objection to the reasonableness of the requested attorneys' fees or expenses nor could he.

10 Objectors Gouzoules, the Orloffs and Kyriazos, however, do object to the fee, but without 11 even mentioning, let alone presenting an analysis of the factors courts consider in evaluating fee 12 awards.⁶ Ninth Circuit jurisprudence, however, is clear: A district court must review several 13 case-specific factors in determining the reasonableness of the fee award for class counsel. See In 14 re Washington Public Power Supply Sys. Sec. Litig., 19 F.3d 1291 (9th Cir. 1994). And, as 15 explained in the Fee Brief (at 10-22), Class Counsel has satisfied each of these elements.
 16 Accordingly, these baseless objections should be rejected out of hand and the requested fees and 17 expenses should be approved for the reasons stated in Plaintiffs' Opening Brief. See In re 18 Lorazepam & Clorazepate Antitrust Litig., 205 F.R.D. 369, 378 (D.D.C. 2002) (rejecting broad, 19 unsupported objections because "[they] are of little aid to the Court").

20 21 2. Objector Pezzati's Purported Reservation Of Rights To Request Attorneys' Fees Should Be Rejected

 23 Pezzati purports to "reserve[] the right to make a request for attorneys' fees capped at 24 3.4% of the difference between the amount actually paid to the class and $11,638,234, to be paid 25 from the class counsel's attorney fee award," Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148, at 8, and states that 26 ⁶ Messrs. Gouzoules and Kyriazos's objections are, in fact, nothing more than objections to 27 securities class actions generally. Neither Mr. Gouzoules nor Mr. Kyriazos offers any reason, 28 explanation, or evidence to support his contention. As such, their objections are improper and should be overruled. Wilson v. Airborne, Inc., No. 07-770-VAP, 2008 WL 3854963, at 7-8 (C.D. Cal. Aug. 13, 2008) (rejecting objections that do not address the terms of the settlement).

1 “Pezzati will...make a formal request for attorneys’ fees upon disclosure of the amount actually 2 paid to the class, contingent upon the court’s approval of the settlement and the class being 3 actually paid at least $11,638,234.” Id. at 10. This purported “right” is based on Pezzati’s claim
 4 that he somehow caused a $2.5 million increase in the settlement fund. Id. at 8-10. Objector 5 Pezzati’s assertion is without merit for three reasons.

6 First, Pezzati’s objection is not a proper motion for attorneys’ fees and, therefore, 7 Pezzati’s purported reservation of the right to seek attorneys’ fees in the future should be denied.
 8 See Hartless v. Clorox Co., No. 06-2705, 2011 WL 197542 at *15 (S.D. Cal. Jan. 20, 2011) 9 (overruling objection, denying objector’s request for attorneys’ fees and granting final approval to 10 settlement and class counsel’s request for attorneys’ fees; “objector Newman raises this issue [of 11 his attorneys’ fees] at the end of his objection and not as a properly brought request for attorneys’ 12 fees.”).⁷ Second, even if there were a valid basis for Pezzati’s fee application either now or in the 13 future – which there is not, Pezzati’s assertion that his fees could be deducted from an award to 14 Plaintiffs’ Counsel is meritless because Plaintiffs’ Counsel’s fees will not be paid from the 15 Settlement Fund. See Fleury v. Richemont North Am., Inc., No. 05-4525 EMC, 2008 WL 16 4829868 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 4, 2008) (“[Objector’s] contention that his fees could be taken from the 17 fee award to class counsel is without merit because class counsel is not being paid out of a 18 common fund.”). Third, Pezzati is not entitled to any award of attorneys’ fees because he did not 19 cause any increase to the settlement here. The increased settlement fund in the amended 20 settlement was the result of negotiations between Plaintiffs’ Counsel and the defendants in which 21 Pezzati’s counsel did not participate. Indeed, Pezzati’s objection to the cy pres aspect of the 22 settlement was as meritless with respect to the original settlement terms as it is now with respect 23 to the final terms. Moreover, the very authority Pezzati cites rejected a similar claim for fees by 24 an objector. See Vizcaino v. Microsoft Corporation, 290 F.3d 1043, 1051-52 (9th Cir. 2002) 25 (holding district court did not abuse its discretion in denying objector’s fee application; “Because 26 objectors did not increase the fund or otherwise substantially benefit the class members, they

27
 28 ⁷ While Pezzati’s request for fees should be denied now, Plaintiffs reserve the right to contest any future motion for attorneys’ fees he may make.

were not entitled to fees.”); see Pezzati Objection, Dkt. No. 148, at 8 (citing Vizcaino); see also In re Leapfrog Enter., Inc. Sec. Litig., No. 03-05421, 2008 WL 5000208 (N.D. Cal. Nov. 21, 2008) (denying objector’s motion for attorneys’ fees because objector did not confer a substantial benefit on the class).

B. The Reaction Of The Class Confirms The Reasonableness Of The Requested Fees

The reaction of the class may also be a factor in determining the fee award. Knight v. Red Door Salons, Inc., No. 08-01520 SC, 2009 WL 248367, at *7 (N.D. Cal. Feb. 2, 2009); see also Fernandez v. Victoria Secret Stores, LLC, No. CV 06-04149 MMM (SHx), 2008 WL 8150856, at *13 (C.D. Cal. July 21, 2008) (holding, where three class members objecting and only twenty-nine opting out “indicates that counsel achieved a favorable result for the class, which in turn suggests that they are entitled to a generous fee.”). This is especially so where, as here, the amount of the fee requested is, in fact, less than what was reported in the Notice.

That only two objections to the fee request were received “is powerful evidence that the requested fee is fair and reasonable.” In re Telik, Inc. Sec. Litig., 576 F. Supp. 2d 570, 594 (S.D.N.Y. 2008) (citing In re Prudential Sec. Inc. Ltd. P’ships Litig., 912 F. Supp. 97, 103 (S.D.N.Y. 1996) (determining that an “isolated expression of opinion” should be considered “in the context of thousands of class members who have not expressed themselves similarly”)); In re Heritage Bond Litig., Nos. 02-ML-1475-DT (RCX) et al., 2005 WL 1594389, at *15 (C.D. Cal. June 10, 2005) (citing In re Crazy Eddie Sec. Litig., 824 F. Supp. 320, 327 (E.D.N.Y. 1993) (lack of objections to requested fee supported its reasonableness)); Ressler v. Jacobson, 149 F.R.D. 651, 656 (M.D. Fla. 1992) (“The fact that there are no objections to either the Settlement or to Petitioners’ request for attorney’s fees is strong evidence of the propriety and acceptability of that request.”).

“The absence of any meaningful objection by a Class Member is an important factor in evaluating the fairness, reasonableness, and adequacy of the settlement and supports approval of the settlement here.” Bellows v. NCO Fin. Sys., Inc., No. 3:07-cv-01413-W-AJB, 2008 WL 5458986, at *8 (S.D. Cal. Dec. 10, 2008) (citations omitted). Hundreds of thousands of prospective Class members were sent the Notice. Only two objections relating to the Fee Application have been submitted. That is overwhelmingly convincing evidence that the request is fair and reasonable. Id.

CONCLUSION

Based on the foregoing and the entire record herein, Lead Plaintiff respectfully requests that the Court approve the Settlement and Plan of Allocation as fair, reasonable and adequate and in the best interest of the Class, and approve the fee and expense application as requested, and overrule the objections to the fee and expense application.
